Any sentence of probation or suspension of sentence (or any portion thereof) which, if served consecutively to another such sentence, would result in an aggregate sentence of probation or suspension of sentence in excess of the limitations imposed by subsection (b) of this section shall be deemed to be concurrent to such other sentence. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to a sentence imposed for a conviction involving an offense committed while the offender was serving a period of probation or suspension of sentence.

(d) The limitations set forth in subsections (b) and (c) of this section shall not apply:

Section 6. Amend § 4334, Title 11 of the Delaware Code by making deletions as shown by strike through and insertions as shown by underline as follows:

§ 4334. Arrest for violation of conditions; subsequent disposition.

(a)(1) ~~The court may issue a warrant for the arrest of a probationer for violation of any of the conditions of probation or suspension of sentence, or a notice to appear to answer to a charge of violation. Such notice shall be personally served upon the probationer. The warrant shall authorize officers to return the probationer to the custody of the court or to the Department. If a probation officer has probable cause to believe that a probationer committed a technical violation, the probation officer may issue a written notice to appear to answer to a charge of violation. The notice must be promptly personally served on the probationer or be left at the probationer's dwelling house or usual place of abode with a person of suitable age. If the probationer has failed to appear as directed within 7 calendar days the following apply:~~

a. If the alleged violation may trigger incarceration following revocation of probation, a warrant may be issued to arrest and temporarily detain the probationer pending a recognizance hearing under this subsection.

b. If the alleged violation may not trigger incarceration following revocation of probation, a warrant may not be issued and the violation is deemed sustained. Notice of that decision must be promptly served on the probationer. Within 30 days of the date the notice of decision was served on the probationer, the probationer may move to vacate the sustained violation if the probationer can show by a preponderance of the evidence that the notice of violation was not properly served or the failure to appear was otherwise excusable.

(2) If a probation officer has probable cause to believe that a probationer committed a nontechnical violation, the probation officer may issue a notice to appear to answer to a charge of violation or, on probable cause to believe that the probationer poses a risk of physically harming another person or wilfully absconding from the revocation proceedings, a warrant may be issued to arrest and temporarily detain the probationer pending a recognizance hearing under this subsection.

(3) Within 24 hours of execution of a warrant issued under this subsection, an authorized officer shall present the probationer to a court for a recognizance hearing. If a court is not available to conduct any business of any type within the 24 hour period, the recognizance hearing must commence on the next day that a court is available to conduct any business of any type.

(4) The Department shall present at a recognizance hearing information to the court regarding the alleged violation and the probationer's supervision record.

229 (5)a. At the recognizance hearing, the court shall consider all available evidence of the individual's 230 employment, family, and community ties, including length of residency in the community, history of reporting in a 231 timely fashion to a supervision officer, and other indicators of stability.

232 b. At the conclusion of the recognizance hearing, the court may order that the probationer be detained
233 pending revocation proceedings only on a finding, based on clear and convincing evidence, that the probationer
234 presents a substantial risk of harming another person or of wilfully failing to appear at the revocation hearings and 235 that a non-monetary condition or combination of conditions in the community is not sufficient to reasonably assure 236 the probationer does not harm another person or wilfully fail to appear.

237 c. If the court does not make the finding under paragraph (a)(5)b. of this section, the court shall release
238 the probationer on the least restrictive non-monetary conditions, with a presumption of release on recognizance.
239 The court shall explain its decision on the record or in writing. If non-monetary conditions of release are imposed,
240 the probationer may not be required to pay for any part of the cost of the conditions.

241 (6) A probationer has a right to be represented by counsel at a recognizance hearing. If the probationer cannot 242 afford counsel, the court shall appoint counsel without charge.

243 (7) If the violation charge involves conduct that constitutes a new criminal offense, and a court orders the 244 probationer released on related criminal charges, or the probationer secures release by paying bail or satisfying other 245 conditions, the probationer may not be detained further based solely on the warrant issued by the Department.

246 ~~(b)(1) The Commissioner, or any probation officer, when in the Commissioner's or probation officer's judgment~~
247 ~~there has been a violation of any condition of probation or suspension of sentence, may arrest such probationer without a~~
248 ~~warrant, or may deputize any other officer with power of arrest to do so by giving that officer a written statement setting~~
249 ~~forth that the probationer has, in the judgment of the Commissioner or probation officer, violated the conditions of~~ 250 ~~probation or suspended sentence. The written statement delivered with the probationer by the arresting officer to the official~~
251 ~~in charge of the place of detention shall be sufficient warrant for the detention of the probationer. When an arrest is made~~
252 ~~by a probation officer, the Department shall present to the detaining authority a written statement of the circumstances of~~
253 ~~violation. Provisions regarding release on bail of persons charged with crime shall be applicable to the probationers arrested~~
254 ~~under these provisions. The standard of proof at a revocation hearing is clear and convincing evidence to believe that the~~ 255 ~~probationer has wilfully violated one or more conditions of supervision in an important respect to the charge. Conduct that~~
256 ~~formed the basis of an arrest may not form a basis of a sustained violation of probation if a court has adjudicated the matter~~
257 ~~with an acquittal or dismissal.~~

(2) A probationer has a right to be represented by counsel at a revocation hearing. If the probationer cannot afford counsel, the court shall appoint counsel without charge.

~~(c)(1) Upon such arrest and detention, the Department shall immediately notify the court and shall submit in writing a report showing in what manner the probationer has violated the conditions of probation or suspension of sentence. Thereupon, or upon arrest by warrant as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the court shall cause the probationer to be brought before it without unnecessary delay, for a hearing on the violation charge. The hearing may be informal or summary. If the violation is established, the court may continue or revoke the probation or suspension of sentence, and may require the probation violator to serve the sentence imposed, or any lesser sentence, and, if imposition of sentence was suspended, may impose any sentence which might originally have been imposed. A court may not impose a period of incarceration for a technical violation.~~

(2) For a nontechnical violation, a court may impose the least restrictive sanction.

(3) For a sentence imposed under paragraph (c)(1) or (c)(2) of this section a court shall impose the least restrictive sanction.

(4) Any periods of incarceration imposed under this subsection runs concurrently if more than 1 violation is sustained. If a period of incarceration is imposed, the probationer must be released from custody on expiration of the period of incarceration or the end of the probationer's period of supervision, whichever occurs first.

~~(d)(1) Notwithstanding any provision of subsection (c) of this section or any other law, rule, or regulation to the contrary, the Department is authorized to~~ may do the following:

(2) The Department shall adopt written procedures providing for administrative review for all cases in which an offender is placed at Level IV or home confinement pursuant to this subsection.

(3) All administrative dispositions imposed pursuant to this subsection ~~shall~~ must be documented in the offender's record and ~~shall~~ must be made available to the court in the event of a subsequent violation which is considered by the court.
