THIRD AMENDED COMPLAINT

1. Plaintiffs are former and current inmates at Sussex Correctional Institution in Georgetown, Delaware ("SCI"), who bring this action to remedy, and seek redress for, a systemic pattern of abusive and unlawful conduct by correctional officers at SCI. This Complaint seeks compensatory damages, punitive damages, attorneys' fees, and any and all other available remedies.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

3. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1331 (federal question) and supplemental jurisdiction over the state law claims under 28 U.S.C. §1367(a).

827. Plaintiff Bennett formed the belief that SCI was not equipped to meet his basic needs as a disabled person. Plaintiff Bennett's legs frequently go numb when he stands due to nerve damage and he falls. Plaintiff Bennett did not shower for the week he was at SCI.

828. Plaintiff Bennett was put in a cell with three other inmates. A few hours later, Plaintiff Bennett suffered from an asthma attack.

829. Plaintiff Bennett's cellmates called for the attention of a correctional officer for help. Defendant Mears walked to the front of Plaintiff Bennett's cell.

831. Defendant Mears grabbed Plaintiff Bennett by the front of his shirt and lifted him in the air causing his shirt to close in on his throat.

836. The impact to Plaintiff Bennett's leg caused an inch long cut and dark bruising, the side of a softball, near the ball joint.

837. Plaintiff Bennett was taken to the nurse. The nurse said, "You are here for drugs" and began to call Plaintiff Bennett a "fat kid."

838. Plaintiff Bennett said through difficult breathing that he needed his asthma inhaler and was in pain. The nurse stuck a needle in Plaintiff Bennett's arm. Despite asking the nurse, Plaintiff Bennett was never told what was injected into his body.

FACTS REGARDING PERSONAL INVOLVEMENT OF SCI'S ADMINISTRATION AND LACK OF SUPERVISION

842. In their capacity of Warden and Deputy Warden at SCI, Defendants Mears and Beck are responsible for establishing the policies and procedures for correctional staff at SCI. By allowing and encouraging a system of abusive conduct by correctional officers to become a de facto policy at SCI, Defendants Mears and Beck were personally involved in the unconstitutional and unlawful conduct at issue.

843. In addition, prior to the assaults upon the Plaintiffs as described above, Defendant Mears knew about the excessive force routinely employed by the Defendant correctional officers. Yet despite knowing the details and in many cases having access to videotaped recordings of these assaults, Defendant Mears failed to supervise and take effective disciplinary actions against the Correctional Officer Defendants.

844. Defendant Mears' failure to supervise the Correctional Officer Defendants involved in the attacks described above was a proximate cause of the same Correctional Officer Defendants' subsequent assaults.

845. Reasonable discovery likely will also show that Defendants Mears and Beck knew that one or more of the Correctional Officer Defendants had previously used excessive force against an incarcerated person. Their failures to supervise the Correctional Officer Defendants led to the assaults described above.

846. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Mears was well aware that SCI correctional officers routinely and violently assaulted Plaintiffs and other incarcerated persons.

847. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Mears learned of the correctional officers' pattern and practice of the excessive use of force through grievances, videotapes of the assaults, infirmary records and reporting by officials.

848. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Mears failed to halt the pattern and practice of the excessive use of force.

849. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Mears' failures and omissions are the proximate cause of harm to Plaintiffs.

850. Prior to the assault on Plaintiffs, Defendant Beck knew about the excessive force used by the Correctional Officer Defendants against other Plaintiffs.

851. Yet despite knowing the details and having access to a videotaped recording of the assault, Defendant Beck failed to take effective disciplinary actions against the Correctional Officer Defendants involved in the assault on Plaintiffs.

852. Defendant Beck's failure to supervise the Correctional Officer Defendants involved in the attack on Plaintiffs is a proximate cause of the same Correctional Officer Defendants' subsequent assault on other Plaintiffs.

853. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Beck was well aware that SCI correctional officers routinely and violently assaulted Plaintiffs and other incarcerated persons.

854. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Beck learned of the correctional officers' pattern and practice of the excessive use of force through grievances, videotapes of the assaults, infirmity records and reporting by officials.

855. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Beck failed to halt the pattern and practice of the excessive use of force.

856. Reasonable discovery will show that Defendant Beck's failures and omissions are the proximate cause of harm to Plaintiffs.

863. Defendants Mears and Buck, by virtue of their own deliberate indifference to known deficiencies in their policies and procedures, allowed to develop an environment in which there was an unreasonable risk that a constitutional injury would occur, and their deliberate indifference caused or contributed to Plaintiffs' injuries.
