regarding CBP's local implementation of the Executive Order at international airports and ports of entry within the purview of Baltimore ("Field Office").

I. Background

On January 27, 2017, President Donald J. Trump issued an executive order that indefinitely blocks refugees from Syria from entering the United States, bars all refugees for 120 days, and prohibits individuals from seven predominantly Muslim countries—Iran, Iraq, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, and Yemen—from entering the United States for 90 days.³ By the following day, January 28, 2017, CBP officials across the country had detained an estimated 100 to 200 individuals at airports throughout the United States, including Philadelphia International Airport and Washington Dulles International Airport.⁴ Two unions representing more than 21,000 federal immigration officers praised the Executive Order,⁵ issuing a joint press release that "applaud[ed] the three executive orders [President Trump] has issued to date."⁶ Daniel M. Renaud, Associate Director of Field Operations for U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, instructed Department of Homeland Security ("DHS") employees that they could no longer adjudicate any immigration claims from the seven countries targeted by the Executive Order.⁷

Beginning Saturday morning, protests erupted nationwide and attorneys rushed to airports to assist detained individuals and their families.⁸ Over the next twenty-four hours, five federal courts ordered officials to temporarily stop enforcement of the Executive Order.⁹ First, Judge Donnelly of the Eastern District of New York issued a nationwide order in Darweesh v. Trump, filed by the ACLU's Immigrants' Rights Project (among others), that prohibited the government from removing any detained travelers from the seven banned countries who had been legally authorized to enter the United States.¹⁰ And a few hours later, in Tootkaboni v. Trump, filed by the ACLU of Massachusetts (among others), Judge Burroughs and Magistrate Judge Dein of the District of Massachusetts issued a nationwide order that not only prohibited the removal of such individuals, but also temporarily banned the government from detaining people affected by the Executive Order.¹¹

At the same time, President Trump remained publicly committed to his opposing position. In the early hours of Sunday, January 29, 2017, after the five court orders had been issued, President Trump tweeted, "Our country needs strong borders and extreme vetting, NOW."¹² He also issued a statement on Facebook later that day, indicating that entry from the seven predominantly Muslim countries would remain blocked for the next ninety days.¹³

In the face of nationwide confusion about the scope and validity of the Executive Order, guidance from other relevant actors offered little clarity. For example, on Saturday, DHS confirmed that the ban “will bar green card holders.”¹⁴ But on Sunday, DHS Secretary John Kelly deemed “the entry of lawful permanent residents to be in the national interest”¹⁵ and, that evening, the Trump administration clarified that the Executive Order does not apply to green card holders.¹⁶ The same day, DHS stated, perhaps contradictorily and without any elaboration, “We are and will remain in compliance with judicial orders. We are and will continue to enforce President Trump’s executive order humanely and with professionalism.”¹⁷ On Monday, then–Acting Attorney General Sally Yates announced that the Department of Justice would not present arguments in defense of the Executive Order unless and until she became convinced that it was lawful.¹⁸ Shortly thereafter, Ms. Yates was relieved of her position by President Trump.¹⁹ The same evening, President Trump also replaced the acting director of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (“ICE”).²⁰

In spite of court orders to the contrary, some CBP officials appear to be continuing to detain individuals—though the approach appears to differ by location.²¹ Accordingly, we seek to supplement the public record to clarify CBP’s understanding and implementation of the Executive Order at Baltimore-Washington International Airport, Philadelphia International Airport, Pittsburgh International Airport and Washington Dulles International Airport (“Local International Airports”) and Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Port of Washington-Dulles and Wilmington (“Port of Entry Offices”). Through this request, the ACLU aims to facilitate the public’s indispensable role in checking the power of our public officials and to learn about the facts on the ground in Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia and the Local International Airports.

To reiterate: We seek information regarding CBP’s interpretation and enforcement of the Executive Order at the Local International Airports, not information held in the records of CBP Headquarters. Specifically, we seek records held by CBP employees and offices at the Local International Airports, and the corresponding Port of Entry Offices and Regional Field Operations Office. CBP has an obligation to search all such field offices that are reasonably expected to produce any relevant information. See, e.g., Oglesby v. U.S. Dep’t of Army, 920 F.2d 57, 68 (D.C. Cir. 1990); Marks v. U.S. Dep’t of Justice, 578 F.2d 261, 263 (9th Cir. 1978) (agency not required to search all of its field offices because request did not ask for a search beyond the agency’s central files); see also Am. Immigration Council v. U.S. Dep’t of Homeland Sec., 950 F. Supp. 2d 221, 230 (D.D.C. 2013).

We request that searches of all electronic and paper/manual indices, filing systems, and locations for any and all records relating or referring to the subject of our Request be conducted. This includes, but is not limited to, any and all records relating or referring to the events leading to the destruction of those records.

As required by the relevant case law, the agency should follow any leads it discovers during the conduct of its searches and should perform additional searches when said leads indicate that records may be located in another system. Failure to follow clear leads is a violation of FOIA.

With respect to the form of production, see 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(3)(B), we request that responsive electronic records be provided electronically in their native file format, if possible. Alternatively, we request that the records be provided electronically in a text-searchable, static-image format (PDF), in the best image quality in the agency’s possession, and that the records be provided in separate, Bates-stamped files.

III. Application for Expedited Processing

We request expedited processing pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E).³³ There is a “compelling need” for these records, as defined in the statute, because the information requested is “urgen[tly]” needed by an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information “to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).

A. The ACLU is an organization primarily engaged in disseminating information in order to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity.

The ACLU is “primarily engaged in disseminating information” within the meaning of the statute. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).³⁴ Obtaining information about government activity, analyzing that information, and widely publishing and disseminating that information to the press and public are critical and substantial components of the ACLU’s work and are among its primary activities. See ACLU v. U.S. Dep’t of Justice, 321 F. Supp. 2d 24, 29 n.5 (D.D.C. 2004) (finding non-profit public interest group that “gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw material into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience” to be “primarily engaged in disseminating information”).³⁵

The ACLU of Maryland regularly publishes “Free State Liberties,” a newsletter for members that goes out to 13,000 people. The ACLU of Maryland also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to approximately 32,000 people (members and non-members). Similar messages are additionally broadcast to over 12,000 social media followers (members and non-members). Both the newsletter and email and social media alerts often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests, in addition to specifically about immigrants’ rights and issues of religious liberty.

The ACLU of Maryland regularly publishes “know your rights” materials, fact sheets, and reports designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that implicate civil rights and liberties. In recent years, the ACLU of Maryland has published several reports relating to the rights of immigrants, specifically. These include: “Detained Without Process: The Excessive Use of Mandatory Detention Against Maryland's Immigrants”: http://aclu-md.org/uploaded_files/0000/0887/mandatory_detention_report_2016.pdf; “Diverted into Deportation: The Immigration Consequences of Diversion Programs in Maryland”: http://aclu-md.org/uploaded_files/0000/0886/immigrant_justice_diversion_report.pdf; and “Restoring Trust: How Immigration Detainers in Maryland Undermine Public ³⁵ Courts have found that the ACLU as well as other organizations with similar missions that engage in information-dissemination activities similar to the ACLU are “primarily engaged in disseminating information.” See, e.g., Leadership Conference on Civil Rights v. Gonzales, 404 F. Supp. 2d 246, 260 (D.D.C. 2005); ACLU, 321 F. Supp. 2d at 29 n.5; Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. U.S. Dep’t of Defense, 241 F. Supp. 2d 5, 11 (D.D.C. 2003). Examples of FOIA requests filed by these ACLU affiliates for this purpose include: 2013 FOIA to Delaware Law Enforcement Agencies to search for records regarding any Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT) teams and acquisition and use of SWAT-related technology; 2010 FOIA to FBI to search for records pertaining to the FBI’s use of race and ethnicity to conduct assessments and investigations in local communities in Delaware after the FBI issued a Domestic Intelligence Operations Guide containing troubling revelations about the FBI’s use of race and ethnicity when conducting investigations; 2008 FOIA to FBI and NSA after it was revealed through litigation that the Maryland State Police spied on peaceful political protesters, activity it turned out was done in partnership with the Maryland Coordination and Analysis Center, which is linked to federal intelligence databases; 2009 FOIA to Executive Office for U.S. Attorneys at DOJ to search offices of US Attorney in Maryland for records relating to policies and data regarding law enforcement acquisition of cell phone location data; 2010 FOIA to FBI Baltimore Field Office regarding the FBI’s authority to collect information about and “map” racial and ethnic demographics, “behaviors,” and “life style characteristics” in local communities to assist the FBI’s “domain awareness” and “intelligence analysis” activities, as outlined in the Domestic Intelligence and Operations Guide revisions of 2008; 2014 FOIA to US Naval Academy seeking information about treatment of female applicants and students; 2013 FOIA to US Customs/ICE seeking information about ICE detainers in Maryland; and 2015 FOIA to ICE seeking records for the Mirna Artiga case, which is now the subject of federal court litigation.

The ACLU of Virginia also regularly publishes “know your rights” materials, fact sheets, and educational brochures and pamphlets designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that implicate civil rights and liberties.³⁶

The ACLU of Delaware publishes a quarterly newsletter, “Connections,” which is mailed to 1600-1800 people. The ACLU of Delaware also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to over 6,000 people (members and non-members). Similar messages are broadcast to 3600 people (members and non-members). Blog posts on ACLU of Delaware’s website are visited by over 5,000 unique visitors per month, and the posts often include information regarding one’s rights with ICE and the police. ACLU of Delaware’s communications often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests.

The ACLU of Delaware also regularly prints “Know Your Rights” materials, fact sheets, and reports designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that influence freedom and justice. Most recently, ACLU of Delaware created a “Know Your Rights with Police” wallet card with immigrants in mind, and included information in English and Spanish. ACLU of Delaware also published “Every Sentence Should Not Equal a Life Sentence: Collateral Consequences Reform in Delaware.” While it doesn’t specifically address immigrants, it does call to attention the fact that Black and Latino individuals tend to suffer the most from these draconian laws.

The ACLU of Virginia publishes and distributes to its mailing list newsletters and issue mailers discussing its work and civil liberties issues twice per year. Mailings are disseminated to thousands of members and non-members. The ACLU of Virginia also broadcasts information on civil liberties and civil rights to the over 15,000 social media followers (both ACLU members and non-members).

The ACLU of Pennsylvania maintains a website that contains updates about its litigation, advocacy, and other civil liberties news.³⁷ In 2016, the website received 266,113 visitors. The most populated page contains fourteen Know Your Rights publications on topics ranging from rights at a protest to interactions with police and immigration agents. The website contains a blog about current civil

The organization also released 34 press releases about its actions in 2016.³⁹

The ACLU regularly publishes STAND, a print magazine that reports on and analyzes civil liberties-related current events. The magazine is disseminated to over 620,000 people. The ACLU also publishes regular updates and alerts via email to approximately 2.1 million subscribers (both ACLU members and non-members). These updates are additionally broadcast to 1.5 million social media followers (members and non-members). The magazine as well as the email and social-media alerts often include descriptions and analysis of information obtained through FOIA requests.

The ACLU also regularly issues press releases to call attention to documents obtained through FOIA requests, as well as other breaking news,⁴⁰ and ACLU attorneys are interviewed frequently for news stories about documents released through ACLU FOIA requests.⁴¹

Similarly, the ACLU publishes reports about government conduct and civil liberties issues based on its analysis of information derived from various sources, including information obtained from the government through FOIA requests. This material is broadly circulated to the public and widely available to everyone for no cost or, sometimes, for a small fee. ACLU national projects regularly publish and disseminate reports that include a description and analysis of government documents obtained through FOIA requests.⁴² The ACLU also regularly publishes books, “know your rights” materials, fact sheets, and educational brochures and pamphlets designed to educate the public about civil liberties issues and government policies that implicate civil rights and liberties.

The ACLU and ACLU of Virginia also publish widely-read blogs where original editorial content reporting on and analyzing civil rights and civil liberties news is posted daily. liberties news through multi-media projects, including videos, podcasts, and interactive features. See, e.g., <https://www.aclu.org/multimedia>; www.aclu.org and www.acluva.org. The ACLU also publishes, analyzes, and disseminates information through its heavily visited website, www.aclu.org. The websites address civil rights and civil liberties issues in depth, provides features on civil rights and civil liberties issues in the news, and contains many thousands of documents relating to the issues on which the ACLU is focused. The websites also serves as a clearinghouse for news about ACLU cases, as well as analysis about case developments, and an archive of case-related documents. Through these pages, and with respect to each specific civil liberties issue, the ACLU provides the public with educational material, recent news, analyses of relevant Congressional or executive branch action, government documents obtained through FOIA requests, and further in-depth analytic and educational multi-media features.

The ACLU website includes many features on information obtained through the FOIA.⁴³ For example, the ACLU's "Predator Drones FOIA" webpage, <https://www.aclu.org/national-security/predator-drones-foia>, contains commentary about the ACLU's FOIA request, press releases, analysis of the FOIA documents, numerous blog posts on the issue, documents related to litigation over the FOIA request, frequently asked questions about targeted killing, and links to the documents themselves. Similarly, the ACLU maintains an online "Torture Database," a compilation of over 100,000 pages of FOIA documents that allows researchers and the public to conduct sophisticated searches of FOIA documents relating to government policies on rendition, detention, and interrogation.⁴⁴ Additionally, the ACLU of Virginia's webpage, "ACLU-VA Seeks Records Related to Virginia Beach High School Assemblies Following Cancellation of Anti-Bullying Event," contains commentary on that FOIA request, the request itself, and related documents.⁴⁵

The ACLU has also published a number of charts and explanatory materials that collect, summarize, and analyze information it has obtained through the FOIA. For example, through compilation and analysis of information gathered from various sources—including information obtained from the government through FOIA requests—the ACLU created an original chart that provides the public and news media with a comprehensive summary index of Bush-era Office of Legal Counsel memos relating to interrogation, detention, rendition, and surveillance.⁴⁶ Similarly, the ACLU produced a summary of documents released in response to a FOIA request related to the FISA Amendments Act⁴⁷; a chart of original statistics about the Defense Department's use of National Security Letters based on its own analysis of records obtained through FOIA requests⁴⁸; and an analysis of documents obtained through FOIA requests about FBI surveillance flights over Baltimore.⁴⁹

The ACLU plans to analyze, publish, and disseminate to the public the information gathered through this Request. The records requested are not sought for commercial use and the requesters plan to disseminate the information disclosed as a result of this Request to the public at no cost.

B. The records sought are urgently needed to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity.

These records are urgently needed to inform the public about actual or alleged government activity. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II).⁵⁰ Specifically, as discussed in Part I, supra, the requested records seek to inform the public about the CBP's current, local enforcement of a new Executive Order amid five court orders, varying directives, and other quickly developing events.

Given the foregoing, we have satisfied the requirements for expedited processing of this Request.

IV. Application for Waiver or Limitation of Fees

We request a waiver of document search, review, and duplication fees on the grounds that disclosure of the requested records is in the public interest and because disclosure is "likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii).⁵¹ We also request a waiver of search fees on the grounds that we qualify as a "representative of the news media" and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II).

⁵¹ See also 6 C.F.R. § 5.11(k).

- A. The Request is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the ACLU.

As discussed above, news accounts underscore the substantial public interest in the records sought through this Request. Given the ongoing and widespread media attention to this issue, the records sought will significantly contribute to public understanding of an issue of profound public importance. Especially because little specific information has been made public about how local CBP Field Offices plan to enforce the Executive Order while also complying with the federal court orders, the records sought are certain to contribute significantly to the public's understanding of these issues.

We are not filing this Request to further our commercial interest. As described above, any information disclosed by the ACLU as a result of this FOIA Request will be available to the public at no cost. Thus, a fee waiver would fulfill Congress's legislative intent in amending the FOIA. See Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003) ("Congress amended FOIA to ensure that it be liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters." (quotation marks omitted)).

- B. The ACLU is a representative of the news media and the records are not sought for commercial use.

We also request a waiver of search fees on the grounds that we qualify as a "representative of the news media" and the records are not sought for commercial use. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II). We meet the statutory and regulatory definitions of a "representative of the news media" because it is an "entity that gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(III);⁵² see also Nat'l Sec. Archive v. U.S. Dep't of Defense, 880 F.2d 1381, 1387 (D.C. Cir. 1989) (finding that an organization that gathers information, exercises editorial discretion in selecting and organizing documents, "devises indices and finding aids," and "distributes the resulting work to the public" is a "representative of the news media" for purposes of the FOIA); Serv. Women's Action Network v. U.S. Dep't of Defense, 888 F. Supp. 2d 282 (D. Conn. 2012) (requesters, including ACLU, were representatives of the news media and thus qualified for fee waivers for FOIA requests to the Department of Defense and Department of Veterans Affairs); ACLU of Wash. v. U.S. Dep't of Justice, No. C09-0642RSL, 2011 WL 887731, at *10 (W.D. Wash. Mar. 10, 2011) (finding that the ACLU of Washington is an entity that "gathers information of potential interest to a segment of the public, uses its editorial skills to turn the raw materials into a distinct work, and distributes that work to an audience"); ACLU, 321 F. Supp. 2d at 30 n.5 (finding non-profit public interest group to be "primarily engaged in disseminating information"). We are therefore a

Furthermore, courts have found other organizations whose mission, function, publishing, and public education activities are similar in kind to the ACLU’s to be “representatives of the news media” as well. See, e.g., Cause of Action v. IRS, 125 F. Supp. 3d 145 (D.C. Cir. 2015); Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr., 241 F. Supp. 2d at 10–15 (finding non-profit public interest group that disseminated an electronic newsletter and published books was a “representative of the news media” for purposes of the FOIA); Nat’l Sec. Archive, 880 F.2d at 1387; Judicial Watch, Inc. v. U.S. Dep’t of Justice, 133 F. Supp. 2d 52, 53–54 (D.D.C. 2000) (finding Judicial Watch, self-described as a “public interest law firm,” a news media requester).⁵³

On account of these factors, fees associated with responding to FOIA requests are regularly waived for us as a “representative of the news media.”⁵⁴ As was true in those instances, we meet the requirements for a fee waiver here.

⁵⁴ In 2005 and again in 2006, the FBI, Department of Defense, and Department of Homeland Security granted the ACLU of Pennsylvania a fee waiver in response to a FOIA request for documents relating to the surveillance of anti-war protestors. In May 2016, the FBI granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request issued to the DOJ for documents related to Countering Violent Extremism Programs. In April 2013, the National Security Division of the DOJ granted a fee-waiver request with respect to a request for documents relating to the FISA Amendments Act. Also in April 2013, the DOJ granted a fee-waiver request regarding a FOIA request for documents related to “national security letters” issued under the Electronic Communications Privacy Act. In August 2013, the FBI granted a fee-waiver request related to the same FOIA request issued to the DOJ. In June 2011, the DOJ National Security Division granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with respect to a request for documents relating to the interpretation and implementation of a section of the PATRIOT Act. In March 2009, the State Department granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with regard to a FOIA request for documents relating to the detention, interrogation, treatment, or prosecution of suspected terrorists. Likewise, in December 2008, the Department of Justice granted the ACLU a fee waiver with respect to the same request. In November 2006, the Department of Health and Human Services granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with regard to a FOIA request. In May 2005, the U.S. Department of Commerce granted a fee waiver to the ACLU with respect to its request for information regarding the radio-frequency identification chips in United States passports. In March 2005, the Department of State granted a fee waiver to the ACLU for a request regarding the use of immigration laws to exclude prominent non-citizen scholars and intellectuals from the country because of their political views, statements, or associations. In addition, the Department of Defense did not charge the ACLU fees associated with FOIA requests submitted by the ACLU in April 2007, June 2006, February 2006, and October 2003. The DOJ did not charge the ACLU fees associated with FOIA requests submitted by the ACLU in November 2007, December 2005, and December 2004. Finally, three separate agencies—the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Office of Intelligence Policy and Review, and the DOJ Office of Information and Privacy—did not charge the ACLU fees associated with a FOIA request submitted by the ACLU in August 2002.

Pursuant to applicable statutes and regulations, the ACLU expects a determination regarding expedited processing within 10 days. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(ii); 6 C.F.R. § 5.5(e)(4).

If the Request is denied in whole or in part, we ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific FOIA exemptions. We expect the release of all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. We reserve the right to appeal a decision to withhold any information or deny a waiver of fees.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please furnish the applicable records to:
