

Xavier “X” Broomer

My name is Xavier Broomer, I’m 27 years old, born and raised in the West Center City community in Wilmington, Delaware.

My first run-in with the justice system was age 14. At age 25 I was released from Federal prison where I tutored individuals for the GED exams. That’s when I had my wake up call. I told myself “I DON’T BELONG HERE.”

Since my release, I’ve worked to help people with disabilities and mental health issues, I’ve worked at an alternative school and I’ve worked construction. Every job

I’ve obtained since being released I lost due to violations of probation (VOP).

Now I am finally off probation and I see others in need of help being punished whole communities in need of help being punished. Now the only thing I see myself doing is my best to help the community.
